Appropriation Bill Goes To Committee Early Next Week

The Strategy Committee of the College was awaiting word from Sacramento on the date of hearing set for the current $2,000,000.00 building appropriation bill before the Committee on Ways and Means today.

The date set will be immediately communicated to one of the Strategy Committee by Assemblymen Williamson, Maloney or Dawson. Present plans call for an immediate return to Sacramento as soon as this date is set by chairman Robertson.

At this meeting the issue will be argued out and a possible amendment attached from whence it will be sent back to the assembly proper for final passage.

The Strategy Committee members stated that all preparations had been made for a stiff fight before the officials of the state committee on Ways and Means. Facts and statements from several years back have been looked into and recorded as possible material for evidence of the needs of the college.

Phi Lambda Chi Has Rush Party

Phi Lambda Chi plans to hold its semi-annual rush party on Tuesday evening, March 23. The affair will take the form of an informal buffet supper, followed by cards or games. The sorority house, at 101 Buena Vista Avenue has been scheduled as the scene of the affair. Frances Bolander, assisted by a large committee, is to serve as chairman.

Other activities planned by the club include "Hell Day" and informal initiation on the campus to be held on April 19, under the chairmanship of Dawn Wilson. Initiation of the new members will be held a few weeks later.

Kappa Delta Tau Plans For Semester Announced

Kappa Delta Tau in announcing plans for the remainder of the semester presents a full program of varied activities. April 10th the organization will appear in a Symposium with eight other colleges at Stanford. This is the fourth Symposium of this type that Kappa Delta Tau has participated in. A Symposium of dance for students of San Francisco high schools will be sponsored by the organization in May. Kappa Delta Tau will dance at the Fortnightly Half-Hour of Dance given on Sunday afternoons at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

State Show Will Go On Network Friday Night

Varsity Varieties, the new series of college programs to be aired over the statewide network of the California radio system, will be heard for the first time Friday night at 9:30 o'clock, with San Francisco State as the guest college. The local outlet for the system is KYA.

The show, originally intended as a weekly presentation of San Francisco State, has been shifted from this basis to become one in a series of programs presented by the various colleges in the bay area.

At present, talent secured for the program includes such names as Helen Louise Cox, winner of the recent California Hour show, Verne Johnston, tap dancer, The Singing Sophomores, Ed Jacobs, and Mervin Mansfield, male vocalist.

Besides the musical program, a short skit has been written, the actors taking part to be announced at a later date. The entire program has been written and directed by three State students, Will Smith, Bill Buchan, and Tim Guiney.

All talent used on this, and future State programs, will be taken from the college, and the committee in charge requests that anyone interested in appearing on the show contact them as soon as possible.

Auditions are still being held for the Master of Ceremonies characterization, with many students taking tests for the part. The orchestra for the program will be a 12-piece affair to be furnished by KYA.

Interesting Books Added To Library

A large number of new books have been added to the college library, few of these are fiction, most being of educational value.

One of the better known of these books is "Novels and Plays of Saki". One for students interested in diet is by Dr. Sansum, entitled "Normal Diet and Healthful Living".

"William and His Friends," by Elizabeth Naramore is a story about creatures of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. For anyone with spring fever, there is "Seeds, Their Place in Life and Legend" by Quinn.

A book by H. K. Beale, "Are American Teachers Free?" should interest all who are to be teachers, and two others of interest are: "Mainland" by Gilbert Seldes, which concerns interesting places and topics in the United States, and one by a Harvard graduate of 1911 who asked his classmates last year, "Was College Worth While?"

Staters Frolic At Palace Gold Room

Participating in the first major social function of the semester, a large crowd of nearly five hundred students enjoyed the annual Frosh Hop Saturday evening.

The capacity crowd crammed the Gold Room of the Palace Hotel, adding to the gaiety of the evening by dancing to the delightful music of Charles Horton and his band.

According to Bill Ferem and George Peters, co-chairmen of the affair, the evening was a success economically as well as socially. Although an official financial statement has not been compounded as yet, both agree that a substantial profit was made.

The dance bids submitted by the committee were a departure from the ordinary. Embossed on the covers was a paddle made of purple cellophane under which was a gold emblem of the college.

Appreciation was expressed by the dance committee for the efficient work done by the patrons in charge of chaperoning the dance.

15 Staters Rushed By Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, the education honor society, will initiate fifteen outstanding students into pledgeship on Friday evening.

Pledging ceremony will take place at the home of Effie McFadden, and the pledges are to be welcomed at tea to be given in the Activities Room on February 4.

Those students being considered for membership in the society are: Evelyn Burnham, Maxine Duffield, Virginia Gildea, Dolores Goetzee, Leon Minear, Hazel Patton, Mary Rice, Mary Margaret Scoby, Sophie Takman, Olinine Volger, Virginia Kyriazi, Alice Masini, Shirley Dickieson, Vivian Walsh.

LATE RELEASE

Last Friday, J. Wallace Gallagher, representing the college in the Bay Counties Debate League oratorical contest, won a third place.

ATTENTION!!!

All low freshmen receiving notice of scholarship deficiency must report before April 1, 1937, to the counselors in room 106B. Exceptions: women majoring in Physical Education please see Mrs. Stephenson; men majoring in P. E. go to Mr. Farmer; pre-nursing students consult Dr. Barney; and music majors see the adviser in their department. Failure to comply will necessitate the use of more effective measures to insure response by the student.

Music Federation Entertains Calif. High School Convention

Dinners, Parties, Dances Planned For Entertainment of Visitors

On Monday, March 22, the Associated Students, in conjunction with the Music Federation, will entertain on the campus 640 students representing a total of 110 high schools in California. There will be a dinner preceding a dance and party which will entertain these students who will participate in the music educators convention which will be held in San Francisco for the first time in fourteen years.

ANNEX B SITE

Constance James is acting as the chairman for the party which will be held in the orchestra room of annex B.

The decorating committee for the co-op dinner will be headed by Paul DePoister and will have one of the biggest jobs for the affair. Norman Zech will decorate the women's gym with the help of the entire Music Federation Executive Board.

MINEAR LAUDS McCALL

"Miss Eileen McCall, who is the Social Chairman for the entire convention has worked tirelessly helping with the social end. Her letters and invitations have succeeded in obtaining the acceptance of nearly 100 per cent of the students," stated President Minear.

MEMBERS AND GUESTS ONLY

Leon Minear, president of the Music Federation, will be the chairman for the entire Monday night affair and has had charge of coordinating the student work for the entire evening, which will be closed to all save members of the Federation and their guests.

Journalism Major Next Semester Possibility

With final arrangements completed by the English and Social Science departments, the proposed journalism major to be established next semester awaits the approval of Sacramento authorities.

Through the combined efforts of Dr. Roy Cave, head of the Social Science department, and Frank Fenton, head of the English department, the possibility of the majors becoming a reality is very good, according to authorities.

Present plans call for the reorganization of already existing journalism courses, plus the addition of an upper division course in the history of journalism in the United States.

Drill Teams Compete At A. P. G. World Fair

Announcing that the crack California Grays military organization would probably be present on the night of the Intercollegiate World's Fair to stage an exhibition, Will Smith, chairman of the affair, said plans had developed satisfactorily so far and that a real show was in prospect for visitors on April 5th.

Other outstanding organizations are being contacted and are being asked to send teams for competition. There will be two main competitions; one for men and one for women with a cup to the winner in each class. Y.L.I., Y.M.I., Independent Order of Foresters, Rebel Cork Association, Pierce Connelly Club, De Molay, and other clubs are being sent invitations.

Advisory Council Holds Skate Party

"The Advisory Council will hold its first social event of the term, a skating party, on Tuesday, March 23," stated Margarette Bellis, chairman for this affair.

This party will be held at the skating rink, Jones and Eddy Streets, San Francisco.

The skating rink will be reserved on this night for the girls of the Advisory Council and their guests, and there will be a charge of 20 cents apiece.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Alpha Phi Gamma series of lectures on journalism will be combined with English 117 class on the same subject.

All those interested in any form of journalistic writing are invited to attend today at noon in room 117.

Group Tables For Decennial

Featuring the Student Faculty Decennial Dinner on April 1 will be group tables for individual clubs or organizations. This announcement came from Mrs. Ruth Witt-Diamant who is managing the faculty part of the dinner.

One of the clubs reserving such a table is Alpha Phi Gamma the college journalistic fraternity which has asked for twenty reservations. Others are expected to communicate with the committee in the next few days.

Mrs. Witt-Diamant stated that there would be no tickets sold at the door and no arrangements would be made for such a sale. It was also announced that sales would be limited to 250.

Delta Phi Upsilon Rushes

Last Tuesday evening Delta Phi Upsilon conducted its semi-annual rush party at the home of Clarice Dechent. A theme of "A Night in Holland" was followed throughout the ceremony.

Prospective members of the society include: Charlotte Soonson, Bernice Musante, Betty Ryan, and Harriet White.

California Youth Act

Coming before the State Legislature for adoption, possible this session, is the much discussed California Youth Act, giving financial aid to needy university and college students.

Much discussion has arisen about the merits of the measure, its weak points and its advantages. San Francisco State has taken an active part by sending a representative of the student body to a meeting of political officials to outline the weaknesses of the bill.

One of the clauses of the act specifies that the students employed under it shall do work "which intellectually benefits them." If the students of California could be assured that this promise would be carried out they would do everything in their power to have it passed.

There are untold opportunities for good that can be done by a large number of students employed in fields of literary, scientific, and general intellectual research, not to speak of the benefit to the employee himself.

The question is this: "Will the educational institutions of the state use the C. Y. A. for their own benefit, or for the benefit of the student himself?"

It will not be denied, we believe, that the now existing National Youth Act funds have been used by the universities and colleges for their own material benefit with no thought to the desires, capacities, or benefits of the individual student. Progressive European countries are employing students in laboratories to do nothing but conduct experiments along their own lines without outside interference, and recent reports indicated a great benefit to the country in general.

To the powers that control these matters we ask that we be allowed to show what we can do for the colleges, ourselves, and society in general.

We want to do something worth while, not dig ditches.

Why Women Buy

1. Because her husband says she can't have it.
2. Because it will make her look thin.
3. Because it's on sale.
4. Because her neighbors can't afford it.

6. Because it comes from Paris.
7. Because nobody has one.
8. Because everybody has one.
9. Because it's different.
10. Because.

A math prof at the University of Texas really gave a pipe exam, only one question. It was simple calculation, the answer being 100. Then the prof asked the class to recall the number of their absences, multiply them by two and subtract the answer from the answer of the problem. The result was their mark for the quarter in percentages.

LAUDING LINOLEUM

Whoops my dear, and another five gallon pot of coffee hops off the stove and smears itself across the floor of the kitchen in the activities room. Ah, but it no longer will do damage, for the powers that be have seen to it that some nice new, shiny linoleum has been laid on said floor.

No longer do innocent freshmen in charge of teas have to shed the well known tear, and thereby add to the mess. All that is needed is a mop and a strong resolution to wield it.

Aside from this practical advantage, the new linoleum offers an outlet for the more aesthetic natures of some teachairwomen. Its design is at once restful and beautiful, in fact, it is awe-inspiring. Certainly a more desirable floor covering than mere paint.

SPRING FOOTBALL DOPE GIVEN

Moleskins To Be Taken Out Of Mothballs This Spring

Farmer To Start Boys On Football Practice For Next Fall

By KEN JOHNSON

Robins in the trees. The brook rambling down to the sea. Gals dressed in white. Guys with dreamy eyes. Those, ladies and gentlemen, are signs of spring as the poet sees them. But a sports' scrivener is by necessity a hard hearted kind of bloke and all the signs of milk and honey leaves him cold. For him the sure sign of spring is the crack of a bat, the crunch of spikes on hard cinders and of all things, the thud of a toe meeting a pigskin. When we watch "Hoppy" Hopkins sail over a hurdle or see Ronnie English sporting a tennis racket and Joe Lee or Pat Bowers donning a baseball suit, we begin to believe that spring is here. But when Dan Farmer starts to lovingly sort out football shoes, helmets and other paraphernalia of the gridiron we know that spring is at last among us.

All this is to tell you that Spring grid practice is just around the corner for the Gaters. The thorn in the side of every football player is the thought of spring practice where it's all work and no cheers, and a headache for any coach, but practice is practice and so Headman Dan Farmer reports that he expects to issue the call for candidates sometime in the next two weeks.

Just what spring routine will bring out in the way of additional talent is problematical but is giving Farmer little cause for worry. For, from starboard to port, the Purple and Gold mentor has experienced men popping up, with veteran Bill Harkness in the lead.

When the call goes out almost an intact team from "36" will don their moleskins for the spring grind. At the center pivot spot will be the first year sensation of last year, Bill Ferem. Back in school also is "Bud" Glasgow, veteran center of the "35" squad who might be shifted to a guard position. Bob Sharetg is still filling a guard spot and "Hook" Hanrahan, a tackle this year, is rated for a guard's job next year and there's that old reliable, Bill Plutte, popping up for his third year at tackle. In the end positions Runar Stone is still around with the other side wide open.

A complete backfield with a couple of extras will turn out. Bill Abbey, quarterback, Billy Hammond, a back, Bob Kelenhofer, the surprise boy of last year at a half place, Bill Harkness at fullback, "Hoppy" Hopkins, another half back and there's oodles and oodles more of them.

But game time is a long time away and possible lineups are the farthest from the coaches' minds. Spring practice is grunt and groan and block and tackle. This year's program will see the Staters concentrating on defense where they seemed to be woefully weak last year. Oscar Gater, the overworked dummy, will be dragged from his den in the bowels of Freddie-Burke and it will be football time again.

GATERETTE GOSSIP....

By FRAN

If you see Kay True running around scatter-brained, you'll know it is because of the coming W. A. A. convention at Oregon. What to wear? What to study?

Judging from the large male turnout—W. A. A. baseball is a great success. Wanted: more girls who can take it. Dr. Barney's busy day is Monday noon after the girls free-for-all baseball get together. A sock on the jaw, just one broken finger and only two sprains. New rule going into effect: When batter swings, she is not to hit the catcher in the act of batting or—someone will be called out.

AT RANDOM

We are going to be the first to sign up for the S. F. J. C. sportnite, 'cause the number's limited and we know it will be swell fun. Be see'n you there. Orchids to all the girls who helped at the election polls. Thanx to Charlie Iago for his bally-hooing. Considering the number of cracked ping-pong balls flying around, State's players certainly have a terrific wallop.

Somebody was terribly burned at the last Exec. Board meeting when he complained about the W. A. A. selling tags. Sorry, ol' boy, but you can't beat a woman.

Have you been watching the fencing exhibitions? If you have any spare time, drop in and see how to hit a heart.

Down In Front

By ED. SMITH

Comes the dawn and the Gaters embark against the S. F. J. C. in a little game of horsehide . . . commonly known as baseball. The Gaters beat the J. C. in football, and the J. C. retaliated by winning the two basketball games, and now it is the Gaters' turn to wallop them in baseball. If you don't believe me, take a trip down to Roberts' Field tomorrow and see for yourself.

FREE FOOTBALL?

Looking at the papers I noticed that a certain John Hopkins University back east plans to have free football for the students next fall. Listening to the various reactions of various people, I heard something like this . . . "how strange" . . . "it won't last" . . . "it's new to me" . . . "it's a cinch they won't do that here". And that last remark makes me laff up my sleeve. For the very person who said that goes to State. Maybe he was blind, deaf, and no doubt dumb. What would he think if he knew that that is just what is going on at State, in fact it has been going on ever since we have had men in the school to compete on athletic teams.

Since Dave Cox came to State he has had to battle many a complaint, and argument for charging the students admission to all games. It takes courage to try something that has never been done before, and yet right under the very eyes of most people in San Francisco Dave Cox has been doing this very thing . . . and they haven't the mind to appreciate it. Hats off to you Dean Cox.

BLOCK "S" REBUILDS

The Block "S" Society is trying hard to become the organization that it was a few years ago. It should be the outstanding organization on the campus and should control the majority of activities that go on around the campus. My personal gripe is that there are a few (?) members that just don't care . . . and there lies their downfall. Possibly we are becoming rooty-toot-toot again by letting the women dominate the whole works, but the women had better start doing something, for when the Block "S" does things, it does it in no small manner.

PLUG FOR "HOPPY"

Many so-called "inside" men thought that "Hoppy" Hopkins would be worthless this cinder season because of football injuries. But from his past performances in the last two meets, their predictions were wrong, as usual. Keep it up, "Hoppy".

Baseball Team Is Primed For Combat With Traditional Foes

Highlights Given On Kuder, Evans, Penivov

Instead of a one-man track team such as we had last year in the person of Ru Stone, this season's team will have to be a composite team of several stars in different events. A glimpse into the private life of several of the promising candidates for the team shows the variety of interests they hold. The majority, however, intend to go into the teaching and coaching rackets.

Going out for a general secondary credential is Stan Kuder, who runs the distance events. A graduate of Oakland High School, he intends to enter Cal. next semester. As he never went out for track in high school, all his talent was developed here at State.

Another prospective teacher is State's winning dash man, Dash Evans. He was on the Lowell track team while in high school. He is a transfer from S. F. Jaysee and is intending to get an elementary-junior high credential. He now holds a low soph rating here at State. Dashing is not his only talent, as he also broad-jumps and is practicing on the hurdles.

A new-comer to State who has not yet had a chance to prove himself here, but who will probably become one of the leaders, is Ernie Peninov, low frosh. A graduate of St. Ignatius, he placed in the city meet in 1934, and will try the hurdles for State.

EDITORIAL: BASEBALL

How many of you have been over to Robert's Stadium since last Football season? Shame on you for your answer, that is if you told the truth.

Believe it or not we have quite a nice baseball team that quietly (because of the lack of rooters) is setting up quite a little record for itself. Consider yourselves collectively rebuked for your lack of support.

And now, being bawled out, you take or leave the following suggestion: Come on around and see the boys of the bat and mitt, and watch them in action.

P. S. You could also see the remarkable progress at the field at the same time.

State-J. C. Game Scheduled For Tomorrow Afternoon On Home Field

By BILL ROSE

Although in the course of the season the Gater baseball team will meet California, Santa Clara, San Jose State, etc., nevertheless tomorrow the Purple and Gold tossers will clash with the one team they have been aiming for all season, the Ragged Rams from S. F. J. C. It is the unanimous opinion of the student body, Coach "Handsome Harold" Harden, the team, and the managers that Jaysee must be submerged, and badly. The game will be played at Roberts Field, giving the Staters the advantage of knowing the diamond well.

With the Menlo and San Jose games rained out over the week end, this contest will be only the second intercollegiate game for the Gaters and their first in two weeks since having defeated Santa Rosa J. C. Even though the Powell streeters will no doubt offer much more in the way of competition than the other teams have, the men of State should give them almost as bad a shellacking as they did last year. For the benefit of the Frosh and a few other Staters who may not know, the first encounter between J. C. and State resulted in a Purple victory to the tune of 24 to 6. But then only eight innings were played.

With the locals undefeated and hitting .330 as a team, Coach Harden feels that he has a well balanced, strong team in the field. It is hard to evaluate the ability of the squad due to the type of competition they have been practicing against, however, the team is practically the same one that took the field for State last year. The team in '36 won seventeen and lost only five.

Lee Eisan's Red and White machine from the junior college looks to be of the 1906 variety, pretty good for the shape it's in but not in such good shape. The Rams—or Black Sheep—have been taken to the cleaners by Sacramento J. C. twice by large scores, and have also dropped one to the Santa Clara Frosh. Here's the way the comparative scores would figure the game out. Santa Clara Frosh beat San Mateo High by one run, the Frosh in turn walloped the Jaysee, and our own Gaters took two from the high school team, 7-0 and 8-1.

Eisan has his star hurler from last year back in the person of Gus Wilgus, who will probably start the Tuesday game. The powerful punch of Babe Luchessi, J. C.'s all-conference outfielder, will be missing this season, however. Arvidi will again be behind the plate.

On the State team, Doug Crary is leading the squad in hitting, batting .555. Following Crary are Abbey, hitting .478, and Stone hitting .416. Andy Gavron is leading the pitchers with 3 wins and no defeats, and Ru Stone has two victories and no defeats.

Change In Sponsors For Board of Publications

Faculty sponsorship of the Board of Publications will undergo a reorganization with the installation of the new journalism major. Mrs. S. Ruth Witt-Diamant, representative from the English department, and Dr. Roy Cave, from the Social Science department will assume places on the Board beginning with the Fall semester.

Miss Grace Carter and Miss Cecilia Anderson, sponsors of the Board of Publications for a number of years are to continue in that capacity until the close of the Spring semester. The newly-elected faculty sponsors will sit in as non-voting members of the Board for the remainder of the term. It is felt that that method of acquainting the instructors with the workings and duties of the Board this semester will aid in the smooth running of the publications next year.

IT'S A BLOT on your record not to have a 1937 Franciscan.

Minstrel Show Title Is Officially Chosen

Cap'n Bud's Row Boat has been chosen as the official title for the Rally Committee's minstrel show to be presented in Frederic Burk Auditorium April 30 and May 1. All black-face, the affair is to be in full costume and will be a modern replica of the shows put on by the famed river boats.

Helen Cox, State contralto, who won the California Hour contest, is returning to take part in this event and the local quartet which won much favorable recognition on the same program will also present a number. Members of the State Quartet are Bob Prather, Jimmy Chestnut, Paul DePoister and Howard Demeke. Solo dances by Nadeza Lawrence, Audrey Stewart and Phil Ford are expected to create interest as is the piano duet promised by Clarice Dechent and Olga Johnson. Interlocutor for the Row Boat Chorus will be Bud Decker while Ed Cockrum and Vernon Reese will act as "end men" for Decker.

In rehearsal now is the 15 piece orchestra which, under Howard Brubeck's direction, will supply a musical background for the show.

Important Notices

During the coming summer session the Social Science department will offer several courses in the lower division which are required for graduation. These include: Geography 20, Government 40, History 4B and History 8B.

* * *

Students who applied for admittance into Education 130 last semester but were not admitted this term must file another application in the Personal Secretary's office (Room 106A, College Hall) at once. Application blanks may be secured from the registrar's office and should bear the signature of the minor or major department representatives before filing in the Personnel Office.

Frederic Burk Used in Summer

Frederic Burk School under the supervision of Miss Grace Carter, principal, will be running at full swing this summer during the summer session.

The school will be in session from 8:50 to 12:00 o'clock each day and will be open to visitors after the first week. All the grades with the exception of four will be taught by State instructors. The remaining four will be supervised by experienced student teachers.

These classes will take up the entire second floor, nursery school, and left wing of Frederic Burk. The remaining class rooms will be turned into student exhibits and the halls will be used by commercial companies for their exhibits. These rooms will be open to visitors all morning and scheduled hours in the afternoon.

The children's library with its collection of over five thousand books, will be open daily during the hours that the training school is in session, and two afternoons a week. The library serves both the educational and recreational needs of the children. It is expected that many visiting teachers will make use of this collection for study.

Miss Carter stated that auditors as well as those seeking college credit are welcome in the various courses and demonstrations.
